"Empowering Generations Through Practical Conversational Hindi"

By

Mrs.Vimala Radhakrishnan

A Revolutionary Approach to Learning Hindi

Meet Mrs. Vimala Radhakrishnan, an inspiring educator who has transformed the way spoken Hindi is taught across India and beyond. Her unique methodology breaks traditional barriers by teaching colloquial, conversational Hindi entirely without using the Hindi script. Through Tamil and English as mediums of instruction, she helps learners speak fluent and confident Hindi—without reading or writing a single alphabet of the language.

Her approach mirrors the way a child learns to speak—through listening and speaking first. “Just as a preschool child learns to converse without knowing the script, my students too learn Hindi the same natural way,” she explains. This intuitive and immersive teaching technique focuses purely on listening comprehension and verbal fluency, allowing learners to start communicating effectively in Hindi within a short time.

A Method Born from Experience

Having lived in Delhi for 25 years, Mrs. Vimala personally experienced the linguistic challenges that non-Hindi speakers face in everyday life. This real-world exposure inspired her to design a customized syllabus that directly addresses practical communication needs. Every lesson in her course is built from her personal experiences of daily interactions, making it simple, relatable, and highly effective.

The course duration is just 41 hours, yet by the end of it, learners gain complete confidence in speaking Hindi fluently. They not only understand the language but can respond accurately and naturally in real conversations. Her students often express astonishment at how quickly they overcome their fear of Hindi. Many go on to travel or work across India—and even in Gulf countries—without facing any language barriers.

IMPACT AND GLOBAL REACH

Thousands Transformed by Her Teaching

Over the years, nearly 6000 learners have benefited from Mrs. Vimala's spoken Hindi program. Her students come from all walks of life—students, professionals, homemakers, retirees, and even teachers. Some of her oldest students have been in their seventies, proving that learning has no age limit when the method is right.

She conducts regular classes at the Vivekananda Cultural Centre (VCC), a unit of Ramakrishna Math, Mylapore, where she has successfully completed over 65 batches. Beyond VCC, her impact extends to numerous organizations, including Central Government Offices such as Shastri Bhavan, the Police Department, and Food Corporation of India. She has also trained employees of leading industrial groups such as Wheels India (TVS Group), Simpson Group, TAFE, and Ambattur Industrial Manufacturers Association (AIEMA). Her courses have also reached private institutions and companies across Tamil Nadu, creating a vast network of Hindi speakers empowered by her teaching.

A Global Classroom Without Boundaries

Embracing modern technology, Mrs. Vimala has expanded her reach through online classes, connecting with students worldwide. Learners from the USA, London, Singapore, Malaysia, Germany, and even South Africa have joined her sessions to master conversational Hindi from the comfort of their homes. She believes that language should never be a limitation, and her digital classroom is living proof of that philosophy.

Her work has been featured in television interviews and Tamil magazines, earning widespread recognition for its practicality and inclusivity. For many non-Hindi speakers who struggle with the written script, her course offers a life-changing opportunity to finally speak and understand Hindi with confidence.

Who Can Benefit from This Course?

Mrs. Vimala's 41-hour spoken Hindi program is a unique and practical course designed for anyone wishing to speak Hindi fluently without learning the script. It caters to a wide range of learners including students, job seekers, professionals, homemakers, and businesspeople. The program is especially useful for office goers who interact with Hindi-speaking colleagues, job aspirants preparing for national-level interviews, and teachers or homemakers assisting children with Hindi studies. It also benefits those managing North Indian workers in factories or service sectors, as well as frequent travelers and entrepreneurs expanding their business across India. Remarkably, even experienced Hindi teachers who primarily focus on written Hindi have joined her program to refine their spoken communication skills. This demonstrates the distinctiveness and effectiveness of Mrs. Vimala's approach, which emphasizes natural conversation and real-life communication rather than rote memorization or traditional grammar-based learning methods.

RECOGNITION AND ACHIEVEMENTS

In recognition of her dedication and lifelong contribution to language education, Mrs. Vimala Radhakrishnan received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the International Association of Lions Clubs. This prestigious honor stands as a testament to her passion, perseverance, and the profound impact she has made in the field of language learning.

Beyond teaching, Mrs. Vimala's talents extend to multiple creative fields. While living in Delhi, she worked as a dubbing artist for television and radio dramas, gaining widespread appreciation for her voice work. She is also an expert in tailoring, knitting, embroidery, and South Indian cooking, proving that her creativity knows no bounds.

A Mission Driven by Compassion and Simplicity

At the heart of Mrs. Vimala's teaching lies a deep desire to help people overcome their fear of Hindi scripts. Many individuals who once felt anxious about learning Hindi now find joy and confidence through her classes. "I am very happy to teach this language easily to those who are in need of it and who are struggling with the Hindi script," she says with a warm smile.

Her vision is simple yet profound—to make spoken Hindi accessible, enjoyable, and effortless for everyone. Through her innovative approach, she has built not just language fluency but also bridges of understanding between cultures and communities.

JVR ACADEMY SPOKEN HINDI VIMALA RADHAKRISHNAN

JVR Academy's Spoken Hindi series by Mrs. Vimala Radhakrishnan introduces a simple, effective, and script-free method to learn spoken Hindi. Designed especially for Tamil-speaking learners, the books use Tamil and English explanations, making Hindi accessible even to beginners or those who struggle with reading the Hindi script.

The program consists of Two Levels—Level 1: Basics and Level 2: Conversations Workbook:

Level 1 builds a strong foundation through everyday expressions, pronunciation guidance, and essential vocabulary. Level 2 advances learners into smooth conversational practice, helping them respond naturally in real-life situations. Both books follow a child-like learning approach where listening and speaking come first, enabling learners to start communicating confidently within a short period, making Hindi accessible even to beginners or those who struggle with reading the Hindi script.

A Course for Everyone

Anyone above the 7th standard can enroll in the Spoken Hindi program. The structured modules 40 hours for Level 1 and 60 hours for Level 2 are designed to help learners progress from basic communication to fluent conversation smoothly and confidently. Mrs. Vimala's passion for teaching and her friendly, practical approach continue to inspire thousands to embrace Hindi with ease.
